

Word of Witnesses Put Against Wollner Alibi in Clevenger Murder

SEEMED INJURED

One Witness Tells of Seeing Musician Limp Home About 6:30 a. m. Thursday.

Asheville, N. C., July 20 (AP).—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown stacked the word of several witnesses today against an alibi he said Mark Wollner, 35-year-old concert violinist, had offered to account for his whereabouts on the night Helen Clevenger was mutilated and shot to death.

While a thunderstorm raged about the fashionable resort hotel, the Battery Park, around 1 a. m. last Thursday the pretty, 18-year-old New York University co-ed was assaulted, her face was gouged with a sharp instrument and she was shot while apparently on her knees in supplication.

A taxidriver said he saw a man leap from the hotel's Mezzanine balcony 12 feet to the ground about the time of the killing.

Wollner, who has been estranged from his wife for two years, had a studio across the street from the hotel.

He was detained for questioning Saturday night and was still under "investigation" in a jail cell in the county court house today.

Without a more specific charge, a prisoner cannot thus be held legally for more than 48 hours.

A 19-year-old former waitress, Mildred Ward, at whose home the German-born violinist roomed, also was detained after she corroborated Wollner's statement he had been at home between 9:30 p. m. Wednesday and 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

Spoke of "Date."

Sheriff Brown said he has found a witness who heard Wollner say last Wednesday:

"I've got a date tonight with a girl at the Battery Park I met two days ago."

Declaring these other witnesses, some of whose names he withheld, contradicted the young musician's alibi, Sheriff Brown summarized:

From 9 to 10 p. m. the night of the crime a cafe owner saw Wollner eating dinner.

Between 10 and 10:30 p. m. Doug Eller, an Asheville reporter saw Wollner drinking beer.

At 2 a. m., a girl witness saw Wollner on the streets.

At 6 a. m., Charles English, 19, noticed the musician drinking coffee at a lunch room.

At 6:30 a. m., Miss Lavada Whitaker and Mrs. Roy Baker, who live next door to the Wards, saw Wollner come home.

The sheriff quoted Miss Whitaker as saying:

"I saw Wollner come home about 6 a. m. He walked as though his leg were hurt. He knocked on the window of Miss Ward's room, and then went up the back steps."

"Five hours later I saw Wollner and Miss Ward come onto the back porch. Miss Ward tried to keep the man from leaving, but he broke away. He was carrying a pair of trousers under his arm."

Got Into Automobile.

Reaching the street, Sheriff Brown said Miss Whitaker related, Wollner got into an automobile a woman was driving.

The sheriff declined to say whether the name of the woman driver was known or whether she had been questioned.

Meanwhile officers had other clues on which to work.

There was a .32 calibre bullet, a ten-inch nickel-plated paper knifed knife, found in the musician's room, and a second key to Miss Clevenger's room, also bloodstained, discovered near the radiator.

There were fingerprints on both the knife and the key. Dr. George F. Baker, Jr., the coroner, said, but he expressed doubt they were of any value.

Miss Ward, taken into custody last night, was the fourth person to be detained in the case. Also held was Daniel H. Gaddy, the hotel night watchman.

Sheriff Brown said he did not think Gaddy had any direct connection with the case but that he would be questioned further.

Joe Gray, a 27-year-old bellboy, the first to be detained, was released yesterday when Police Chief William J. Everett said, he freed him out of suspicion.

In-Chief's Story.

Chalmers, July 20 (AP).—Sixty names and residences of an excited neighborhood watched 19 police squads trap about 100 persons in a crowded rooming house on a street near the river.

The victims were identified through fingerprints as William Brown, 28, paroled last March 26 from Federal Penitentiary after serving time on four robbery charges. He was slain as he sought to escape.

Water Board Gives New Sprinkling Regulation

In order to relieve present conditions on the high points in the city where residents are finding it impossible to get water during the sprinkling hours, due to the lowered pressure, the Water Board requests that consumers observe the following regulation:

"Consumers residing on the odd numbered side of the street to use hose Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m., daylight saving time. Consumers residing on the even numbered side of the street to use hose Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m., daylight saving time."

Freak Storms Sweep Through County, Give Relief and Damage

A series of freak electric storms swept through Ulster county Saturday afternoon doing considerable damage but bringing at least temporary relief from the severe drought which has threatened crops.

The first storm broke early in the afternoon and accompanied by heavy peals of thunder and sharp lightning rain fell for a time. Later in the afternoon a second storm passed over the city and surrounding territory and there was a very heavy rainfall for a time.

The second storm was accompanied by wind which did some damage in various sections of the city but the principal damage was from flooded gutters which overflowed curbs and flooded cellars.

In the county the storm was of a rather freakish nature blowing down trees in various localities and carrying down electric wires which kept the emergency crews of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation busy during the evening. Damage to the electric system was due to falling trees or branches blowing over power lines.

The principal damage was in the vicinity of Creek Locks, Bloomington and along the hill back of Esopus and West Park where the storm seemed to center. There was also damage in the vicinity of Cottage Hill and Blinnewater where trees were blown down and the highways blocked for a time.

Highway Department employees were sent out to several localities to clear up blockades where trees had fallen along the roads. In the vicinity of West Park there was considerable damage from wind.

Little damage was reported by the New York Telephone Co. to its lines. During the storm the house of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Every at Union Center was struck by lightning but the occupants escaped injury. The house was somewhat damaged but fortunately there was no fire.

In the Grahamsville section the storm broke about 6:15 o'clock and for a half hour there was a heavy rainfall. Up the Esopus valley the storm was not so severe and the amount of rainfall was much less than in the vicinity of Kingston. At Woodstock there was also less rain than in Kingston. Shortly after 9 o'clock while Kingston was experiencing a few drops of rain there was a heavy downpour in the vicinity of Golden Rule Inn at Ulster Park as the freak storm paid a return engagement to that locality.

From various sections of the county comes reports of relief from an acute water shortage and the storm was of great value to crops which had already begun to suffer from the prolonged dry spell.

Costs Weather Eye

Aboard Schooner Liberty off Sheboygan, N. S., July 20 (AP).—24 of a five-day drought of heat. President Roosevelt cast a weather eye eastward today and hoped conditions would be favorable for some deep sea fishing. Decried tanned, the vacationing chief executive who is vacationing at board the schooner Liberty, announced he would postpone his swing back around the southern tip of Nova Scotia for at least a day to get in a few hours of fishing for tuna, cod and pollock—weather permitting.

Open Economic Conference

New York, July 20 (AP).—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, in a report to the trustees of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, of which he is president, urged that the United States save the way for a new world economic conference to deal especially with problems of money and credit. The report, made public yesterday after the Columbia University president returned from Europe, predicted that many governments would be confronted with a budget crisis next year.

The first dispute between employee and employer to be heard in Ulster county before the National Labor Relations Board came up today before Robert M. Gates of Washington as trial examiner in the matter of the charges brought against the Clermont Cravat Company of Kingston by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local No. 250, of Union Square, New York city. The charges against the local neckwear company, occupying quarters in the former American Cigar Factory building on Broadway where about 100 local people are employed, are that on April 12, 1936, one Jacob J. Schneider, a cutter, and one Mabel Chapman, a stitcher, were dismissed from their employment for activities in union organizing at the local plant.

The Board is represented by David A. Moscovitz of New York, regional attorney, and J. Leon Israel appeared for the Cravat Company.

Jacob J. Schneider, the discharged cutter was on the stand during the entire morning session which did not conclude until 12:45 when an hour was taken for lunch. The session was resumed in the afternoon.

Under the complaint the company is charged with "unfair labor practices" in discharging the two employees for alleged activities in attempting to organize a union in the shop. This is denied by the company and it is the contention of the charges that Schneider was discharged for "incompetency."

The respondent at the opening of the hearing, which is conducted along the same lines as a court trial before a judge, objected to the proceedings on the grounds that the board has no jurisdiction and that the labor act under which the proceedings is brought is unconstitutional. The objections of respondent were overruled by the examiner and the taking of testimony followed.

Schneider First Witness.

Mr. Schneider was called as the first witness. He was admitted by counsel that the complainant was a labor organization, within the meaning of the law, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The witness said he lived at 75 West Union street and had been a cutter in a shirt factory prior to taking a position as cutter for the Clermont Cravat Company when that company came to Kingston over four years ago. He said for four years and nine months he had been employed as a cutter. When the company came to Kingston he was asked by Mr. Schwartz to secure cutters for the factory and he did so. At first he was paid $20 a week but his wages were increased to $35 during the NRA times. When he quit work he was earning $32. Immediately after the NRA expired he said there was a cut in wages. The working hours were increased without any increase in pay and he considered this increase in hours without any increase in pay in effect a reduction of wages.

As head cutter in the plant he said he had acted as spokesman for the other cutters and at the time of the increase in hours he had argued the point with his employers for the cutting force. Prior to NRA there were four cutters and himself. Several times during his working at the plant he said his work had been complimented and there were infrequent times when mistakes were made and the boss mentioned it to him. These mistakes he said were not his own mistakes, at times they were mistakes by others in the department.

He referred to frequent union bulletins and letters which were circulated at the plant and said he had made application for admission to the union in 1934. At the time there was no local here so his application

"ONE BIG UNION"

Steel Organizers are Busy; Plans for 55,000 Rayon Workers' Strike are Watched.

(By The Associated Press)

Labor difficulties dotted the industrial map today, with a mass demonstration of organized labor expected in one city, 800 workers on strike in a second, and a peace meeting called in a third where conferees expected to return 1,500 men to their jobs.

The mass demonstration labor was scheduled in Chattanooga, Tenn., against two companies, but Erskine Mabey, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, predicted that negotiations would soon lead to a settlement of both strikes.

The strikes were in progress at the Bennett-Hubbard Candy Company for recognition of their union as a bargaining agency and at the Pound building where workmen demanded higher wages.

Private guards and deputies were on the watch at the Northwestern Barb Wire Company plant at Sterling, Ill., where strike activities last week resulted in several beatings and the arrest of 18 persons.

The Amalgamated group, however, entered the scene after the walk-out for collective bargaining was started.

Striking Mexican fruit pickers seeking union recognition, at Santa Ana, Calif., today entered a conference with Orange county citrus growers, agreed on terms of a tentative settlement of the strike which started several weeks ago when 1,500 workers marched out of the groves, temporarily halting the harvest of a $20,000,000 orange crop.

Steel Organizers Busy

Pittsburgh, July 20 (AP).—Clinton S. Golden of the steel workers' committee for industrialization, reported today organizing units designed to bring the employees under "one big union," have been established "in about 50 mills" of the northwestern states.

Golden, director of the campaign in the northeast with headquarters in Pittsburgh, made the report to the "key men" named by John L. Lewis to set up an industrial union among the nation's half million steel workers.

Rayon Strike

Washington, July 20 (AP).—Plans for a drive to bring 55,000 rayon mill employees into the United Textile Workers Union were watched today to see if they would draw support from the committee for industrial organization, already backing organization efforts in the steel, automobile and rubber industries.

Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the textile union, announced yesterday that the effort to enlist rayon workers would begin August 1.

Labor observers generally expected the effort to get the united support of the United Mine Workers and 11 other American Federation of Labor unions which have joined in a campaign to bring all the workers in each large industry into one big union.

Leaders of this group, comprising the industrial organization committee headed by John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, are scheduled to meet tomorrow to discuss a summons calling upon them to stand trial before the A. F. of L. executive council August 2 on charges of violating Federation Law and being in "rebellion."

Craft Unions, which favor organizing workers by craft—such as machinists and carpenters—instead of by industry, dominate the council.

Although the United Textile workers belong to the Lewis committee for industrial organization, they have not been at odds with the Federation over their own form of organization. The textile union claims all production workers, leaving maintenance men to the craft unions. Gorman made no mention of any attempt to extend his union's scope to take in all the workers at rayon plants.

Rightist Rebellion Crushed In Madrid by Loyalists, but Rebels Hold Several States

Government Announces Uprising in Capital is Completely Dominated, But Revolters Claim Other Victories.

CITIZENS ARMED

True Evaluation of Conditions in Spain and Morocco Made Difficult by Confusion.

(By The Associated Press)

A rightist rebellion in Madrid was crushed today by loyal government troops which imprisoned more than 1,000 of their officers, but rebels continued to hold Spanish Morocco and several provinces in southern Spain.

The government announced the uprising in the capital was completely dominated and that it had the whip hand in other sections, but leaders of the revolt asserted their forces were supreme in many important sectors.

In fighting around Madrid the La Montana garrison was shelled and bombed by loyalists who subdued the rebels after four and a half hours.

When the hottest fighting quieted, scattered rifle and pistol shots were heard throughout the city.

Gen. Francisco Franco, rightist leader of the revolt, landed his northern African troops on the Mediterranean shores of Spain and reported occupation of unspecified airbases, cities and towns in what was described as a "restoration movement."

The population was armed by the government which held in readiness its civil guards, assault guards and customs guards remaining loyal to bolster the army, navy and air corps.

Theatres, Cafes Closed

Theatres and cafes in Madrid were ordered closed with thousands of Socialists and militiamen patrolling the streets.

Conflicting and confusing reports by the leftist government and rightist rebels made difficult a precise evaluation of conditions either in Spain or its Moroccan colony.

A broadcast from Madrid said loyal guards at Barcelona repulsed a rightist attack, but another statement by air declared insurgents controlled the provinces of Andalusia, Castile, Aragon and Navarre.

Refugees in Gibraltar estimated 200 persons were killed in La Linea, Cadiz Province, during the night and other "Fascist" forces held the town. Other sources, however, said a large government contingent was advancing to attack.

Street fighting in San Sebastian, where Ambassador Claude G. Bowers of the United States and other foreign diplomats have their summer residences, was reported at Bayonne, France.

The reports said an unestimated number of casualties resulted from the fighting between rebels and Loyalists.

Fresh progress by the military insurgents—characterized as both "Fascists" and "Rightists"—came by telegram to a Seville radio station.

Assets Control

Gen. Francisco Franco, former military governor of the Canary Islands, asserted his forces had complete control of Spanish Morocco, where the revolt broke, in addition to five southern mainland provinces.

Locked in his Barrioz home where he went into voluntary seclusion, Jose Maria Gil Robles, Rightist leader, declared to have ordered the rebels to discuss the movement.

The government's position shifted through cabinet changes. Jose Giral, former Minister of Marine, became the third premier to head the cabinet in three days.

The Leftist leader, Santiago Casares Quiroga, resigned Saturday night to be followed by Diego Martinez Barrio, who stepped out after only a few hours in office.

General Franco and a contingent of rebels headed for the capital, reports from Lisbon declared, and later landed at Cadiz. The government moved to reinforce its guards by calling support of workers' organizations whose private "militias" were armed and ready for patrol duty.

Asturian miners, the government said, have offered to aid in suppressing the rebels.

The cities of Las Palmas and Tenerife in the Canary Islands were reported under control of Spanish military rebels by the Reuters (British) News agency in London.

The agency declared a general strike was called in the Islands but the insurgent leaders ordered the workers to return to their jobs tomorrow.

The cities of Malaga, Valladolid, and Burgos were reported to be in the hands of the rebels. Frontier rumors had it that General Mola was marching on Madrid with an army.

At Plymouth, England, the British cruisers Calio and Orion were standing by, ready to go to Spanish waters if they are needed for the safety of British citizens in Spain.

Party Leaders Await Word of Issues From Presidential Candidates

New York Girl Drowns While Bathing in the Creek Near Rosendale

About 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon Tillie Mazie, 16, of 772 East 180th street, New York city, met her death while bathing in the Rondout creek, near Rosendale.

A companion, Clara Sooshow, 17, of 724 East 160th street, New York city, also unable to swim, came close to losing her life when she tried to save her friend.

According to the story told to Sheriff Abram Mohrman, who made an investigation of the affair, with Coroner Lester Dullons, the two girls, with William Lawrence, a nine-year-old boy, of 582 East 136th street, New York, the girls being guests at the Rainbow Camp for Girls, near Rosendale, had gone down to the creek and had entered the water from the south bank of the creek, some distance from the bridge.

Young Lawrence stood nearest the shore, with Miss Sooshow next and Miss Mazie furthest out, the three holding hands. Suddenly Miss Mazie slipped into a deep hole and went down.

The Lawrence boy shouted for help and his cries attracted the attention of Dominic Forza of 94 East Seventh street, New York, who was just about to get into his car, which was parked on the opposite side of the creek, near the Clinton Ford pavilion. Forza got to the scene of the accident as quickly as possible and put in time as it turned out, to save Miss Sooshow, who had already gone under in her attempts to rescue her friend.

The body of the drowned girl was taken from the water about an hour after she had come down, by another New York man, who left the scene before the authorities were able to secure his name and address.

The body was turned over to Undertaker McCardle of Rosendale and Sheriff Mohrman had a telephone message notifying the girl's parents, who came up from the city at once.

Mrs. Sherman's Second Trial

Newburgh, N. Y., July 20 (AP).—Mrs. Dorothy Sherman, 27, the former buique dancer and Salvation Army worker who once was sentenced to death for drowning her 12-year-old baby, will face her second trial for murder on September 14. The date was set in county court today, and a special panel of 150 jurymen will be drawn September 1. The court of appeals in Albany recently held that Mrs. Sherman should have a new trial because the court's instruction to the jury at her first trial advised the jurors that they could recommend mercy.

Farm Journal's Straw Vote Gives Landon Majority

The first figures in the Farm Journal's Presidential straw vote show majority for Governor Landon over President Roosevelt, with a relatively light vote for Mr. Lemke, Mr. Thomas and others.

The individual states, however, show striking differences in trend, as, for example, between Missouri, with a pronounced Republican preference, and Iowa, which so far is standing by Mr. Roosevelt.

This is one of the oldest of Straw Votes, the Farm Journal having taken this poll in every Presidential campaign since 1912. Beginning with 1916, this has correctly forecast the result of all elections, including the very close Wilson-Hughes campaign; it even showed in 1928 the capture of Virginia, Florida and Texas by the Republicans.

All ballots in this first tabulation have been obtained by personal calls on farmers in their homes. In most of the 32 states for which figures are given many counties have been covered, so that the result is a reliable and representative sample of farm opinion up to the 10th of July.

It may be added that the latest figures show a slight Republican trend. The Republican share of the total vote having risen from 49.8% to 54.7% since the nomination of Governor Landon. As pointed out above, however, the situation in different states varies sharply.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

"The Seeing Eye" at Stone Ridge Casino

How German shepherd dogs are trained to lead the blind will be the subject at the Casino Summer Forum, at Stone Ridge, next Friday evening. It was announced today by Hollister Sturges, Jr., director.

The speaker will be Gretchen Green, whose talk will be supplemented by a new motion picture film showing in detail the work now being carried on by the Seeing Eye at Morristown, N. J.

This experiment of relieving blind persons from a state of dependence was started seven years ago in this country. At that time few believed it possible for dogs, however well educated, to guide a blind person safely through American traffic under all conditions.

Only a small group of its proponents, who had spent nearly 10 years in Europe studying and developing working dogs, believed the Seeing Eye would in time liberate hundreds of men and women who cannot do much of what they want to do because they cannot see.

Today over 200 blind in nearly every state of the Union have dogs through which they have been liberated.

The guest speaker on Friday has been associated with Mrs. Harrison Eustis, the president of the Seeing Eye, for many years, even before the establishment of this organization in 1929. Miss Green was with Mrs. Eustis in Switzerland when the Fortunate Fields experiment in breeding dogs for intelligence was being conducted and where the American method of educating dogs was developed.

Miss Green is the author of the recently published autobiography, "The Whole World and Company." Her life has been an active one: She has been a policewoman in Idaho, has had tea rooms in Florida and in Venice, has worked in India at the University of Rabindranath Tagore, and acted as advance agent for Malvina Hoffman on her famous trip around the world sculpturing anthropological types of the Field Museum of Natural History at Chicago.

Most of Miss Green's energies for the past few years have been devoted to the Seeing Eye, and her talk at Stone Ridge on Friday will be her first visit to Ulster county.

State Tax Commission Rules on Gas Sales

Albany, N. Y., July 20 (AP).—The State Tax Commission held today that the sale of motor fuel without tax to governmental employees operating personally-owned cars, even when used on official business, is illegal.

The commission ruled that the state tax must be paid on all fuel sold to executives or employees of federal, state or local governments unless delivery is made to a governmental unit or to a vehicle owned by a governmental unit.

UNEARTHED ROCK WALL POINTS TO FIND OLD CITY

Rockwall, Tex. (AP).—Geologists to the contrary, R. F. Casp believes the well known rock wall of this vicinity is man-made masonry and is preparing excavation work in hopes of turning up an ancient city.

The strange wall, geologists say, is the work of nature. It surrounds the city underground and gave the name to the town and county. Casp has excavated a portion of the wall 8 feet deep and 100 feet in length.

State Lettuce Has Decreased

Ithaca, N. Y., July 20.—Lettuce production has been decreasing in New York, about twenty-eight per cent in the past few years, and the reasons are largely related to quality and methods of grading and packing, according to studies by the department of vegetable crops at Cornell.

Professor J. E. Knott, who has carried on some of the work summarizing the results. "Unless definite measures are taken by growers to ship a high-quality pack consistently, and so develop and maintain a good reputation for New York state lettuce, this industry can not possibly be restored to its proper place. Shippers of poor-quality lettuce are being forced out of business, but meanwhile they have done much to hurt the reputation for the state's crop. Many growers do not leave the crop in the field long enough for the heads to become firm, and many do not seem to know what constitutes good market quality. Methods of packing in the field should also be revised.

"The outlet for high-quality lettuce is limited," says Professor Knott. "There is a potentially large demand for a lower-grade lettuce that will meet the needs of the typical person's pocketbook, but it should be so labeled. A properly organized grading system should not materially increase the cost of harvesting and packing lettuce. Even more important than the packing of two grades, is the necessity of allowing the lettuce to reach the proper degree of maturity before it is cut, and the removal from the general market of all lettuce that is loosely headed."

CABINS RECONSTRUCTED ON ROUGHRIDERS' RANCH

Medora, N. D. (AP).—Two cabins in which Theodore Roosevelt lived as a rancher, cowboy and hunter in the picturesque Badlands of western North Dakota are being rebuilt on his old Maltese Cross ranch just south of here.

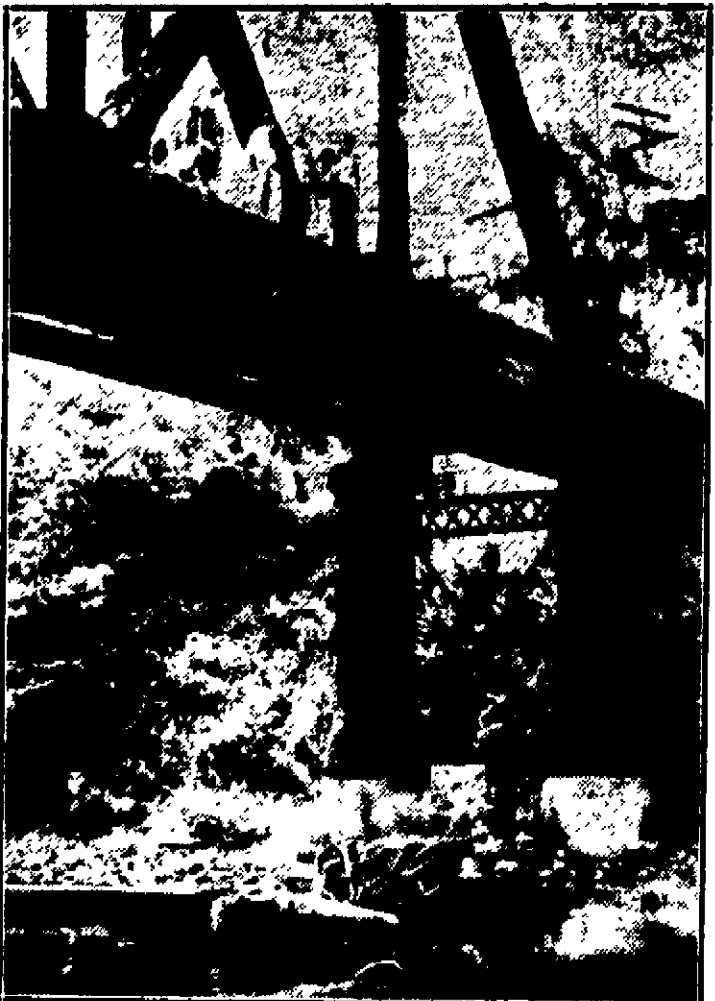

The old ranch lies in the beautiful valley of the Little Missouri river, surrounded by buttes, and covered with purple sage and blooming cactus.

W. O. Thoner of Roanoke, Va., present owner of the ranch, had his cowhands reconstruct the two cabins, observing details of their original appearance as outlined by Joseph A. Ferris, who was a partner of Roosevelt, and George W. Myers, former cowhand of the Roughriders.

TRAIN HURLS CAR IN STREAM; 9 DIE

Nine members of two families were killed when a train struck a car at a crossing near Dundee, Mich., swept it onto a trestle and hurled the machine and its occupants into the river below. The bridge, with the wreckage of the car below, is shown here. Harry Schuster of Farrell, Pa., and Sam Pisano of Wheatland, Pa., their wives and children died in the crash. (Associated Press Photo)

"You made our

That's what a young husband told us recently. "My wife and I both needed a rest," he said, "but we just didn't have the cash. Then a friend suggested you. We came to your office... got enough cash to take the vacation we needed and are now repaying a small amount each month." Are you putting off a vacation because you don't have cash? If you are, we'll help you. Come in and see us TODAY.

TWO WEEKS, WITH PAY

VACATION TIME is here. The family car is piled high with baggage and you're off for two weeks... to the seashore, the mountains, the lakes... or maybe you'll play gypsy and wander the world with a road-map.

But no matter what you do, or where you go, you'll need to stock up before you leave. There'll be many things to buy—sunburn lotion, bathing caps, a traveling bag, a new tire. There'll be many things to plan—places to see, and places to stop.

Read the advertisements first—the travel advertisements which mention hotels and comfortable places to eat and sleep. Read the advertisements of Vacation Specials—equipment that you must have if you're going to enjoy every day away.

It's surprising what a help the advertisements are. They tell you of savings... they point you on the newest improvements... they remind you of things you might have forgotten... and they make your two weeks with pay, pay MORE!

China, Worried By Revolt Threat, Faces Trouble Along Three Fronts

Nanking (AP)—Trouble-torn China faces major threats to its unity along three fronts, each far removed from the others.

The latest move against the authority of the central government comes from the southern provinces of Kwangsi and Kwangtung, where disaffected elements oppose policies of Nanking.

On the northern frontier, Nanking fears further penetration by the Japanese. Prince Teh Wang, Mongol nationalist leader, it bears, has been offered assistance if he will help set up an autonomous Inner Mongolian state comprising the present Chinese provinces of Suiyuan and Chahar (over part of which the Japanese already have extended their influence) at the start, and including eventually the province of Ninghsia.

Fear Hold Loosened

Nanking's hold on Hopeh and Chahar has been precarious at best since the Japanese army pushed through Manchuria three years ago to halt only a few miles from Peiping. Now with Nanking's attention occupied by domestic troubles, many responsible Chinese fear that north

China's fate is sealed, and that the long cherished hope of a united Chinese stand against a foreign aggressor has been so dimmed that it will take years to rekindle.

To the west, the main forces of the Chinese red armies are reported on the march again, leaving their temporary hideouts in Yunnan, Szechwan and Shensi and pushing westward and northward, apparently in an effort to reach the region around Koko Nor and to push into Sinkiang.

This cloud is not without its silver lining, for if the Communist forces succeed, China proper will be rid of its greatest trouble makers—although Nanking will be in danger of losing the last vestige of its authority over the potentially rich border provinces.

The Chinese governor of Sinkiang receives few and obeys fewer orders from Nanking. His advisors are appointees of Moscow, his chief source of revenue is the Soviet organization which dominates the trade of the province.

If they actually penetrate into Sinkiang, Nanking believes the Communists, harassed by Chinese armies for eight years, might set up an autonomous regime affiliated with the U. S. S. R., as has been done in Sections in which serious threats to the authority of China's central government have arisen are indicated above.

Outer Mongolia, or establish an independent republic.

Expects Some Benefits

Likewise the possibility of civil war in the south has its bright side for the trouble-torn central government.

Without attempting to minimize the still unmeasurable harm done by the raising of the standard of revolt, Nanking leaders, taking the long view, see even in this blow to national morale, eventual benefits for the nation.

Before Nanking can hope to stop the threat of civil war the national treasury will be poorer by millions spent on military preparations, troop movements and making sure of the loyalty of Kwangtung's military clique.

But in this process, Nanking expects to extend her currency system and a degree of financial control over the prosperous southern province which for years has done about what it pleased when it came to collecting and spending money.

Chinese Monopoly On Antimony Lost; Texas Plant Busy

Laredo, Tex. (AP)—The only antimony smelter on the western hemisphere and said to be the largest in the world is in operation here, working mostly ore from Mexico, but with some from western United States, Bolivia and Peru.

Before the smelter was established in 1931, the world depended on China for 70 to 80 per cent of its antimony needs.

Antimony, used chiefly as an alloy to give strength to type metal, also is used in machinery bearings, storage battery plates and electric cable sheathings.

Marlin, Tex. (AP)—Sylvia King, a pipe-smoking French negress said to be 181 years old, is Texas' oldest resident. She was a gray-haired grandmother when the Civil War began.

GAS

In the stomach is a common disorder causing much discomfort.

Gas indicates the stomach, forcing it to crowd the heart and make it beat irregularly. The lungs are crowded and because they cannot properly expand, the patient often takes a deep breath to get enough oxygen. These and other distressing symptoms are warnings that digestion is impaired and needs attention. Remember for every effect there is a cause. Let the experts know.

Rains, Heavy Winds Shake Grip of Drouth In Corn Belt Sections

Chicago, July 20 (AP).—Rains and falling temperatures in the wake of destructive winds routed heat and shook the grip of drouth on much of the nation's corn belt today.

A gale which struck northeastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri of 55 to 60 miles an hour killed two persons and injured at least eight last night, but brought rain to some parched sections. Twisting north winds, whipping up blinding clouds of dust, swept across eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, damaging property and felling power lines. Badly needed showers followed.

A tree limb fell through the top of an automobile and crushed to death Forrest Powell, 29, at Independence, Mo. Mrs. Moody Umsett, 70, was electrocuted when she stepped on a power line blown down at Cameron, Mo. Four were injured when a revival meeting tent collapsed at Pattonsburg, Mo. Four hundred other revivalists were unhurt when their tent was blown down at Kansas City, Kas.

Dust was spewed into Kansas City, Mo., and buildings damaged. The temperature dropped 23 degrees in Leavenworth as trees were snapped and the city darkened for a time by disruption of electrical service.

Precipitation measured .19 of an inch at Omaha, the first appreciable rain since June 16, and the mercury dropped to 68, the lowest in weeks. Rain ranging up to nearly an inch was fairly well distributed over Iowa and temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees as wind lashed the state.

At Des Moines the dust-bearing gale blew 70 miles an hour, ripping off the roof of the state fair grandstand, tearing holes in the roof of the machinery hall and blowing down electrical lines.

Hall damaged corn at Rushmore, Bigelow and Willmont, Minn., but in that section and at Worthington, Minn., where high winds flattened crops, farmers took comfort from a third of an inch of rain. It was the first precipitation since July 9 at Worthington.

At Sundance, Wyo., Remyettlement Administrator Rexford G. Tugwell estimated one million farm families in 24 states had suffered from drouth and predicted 250,000 would need federal aid.

In the vicinity of Sioux Falls, S. D., 10,000 farmers on WPA jobs were ordered to report today for well-digging in four counties. At Chicago Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said weather bureau reports showed a general improvement in drouth conditions.

The nation's total of deaths attributable to weather during the heat wave increased only slightly over the week-end, exceeding 4,500.

ARRESTED ON BENCH WARRANT ISSUED FIVE YEARS AGO

A bench warrant issued by a New York city Judge in June, 1931, was responsible for the arrest Saturday of Richard Mott, 27, of 103 East Third street, New York city on a charge of robbery in the first degree.

Mott was visiting his brother in Wallkill, where he was arrested by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein. He was brought to the county jail and held for New York city police, who arrived Sunday and took him to the city.

Amy Swallows Her Words, Was "Kidding"

Sheffield, Eng., July 20 (AP).—Amy Johnson Mollison explained today she was just "kidding" when she said "women have never been up to any good."

The remarks of the famous woman pilot, who brought a gasp of astonishment from her audience at a woman's engineering society dinner, were designed to "instill a little pep" in the meeting, she declared.

"I'm surprised my words were not understood as a joke," she explained. "Certainly I believe in women."

(Her previous statement was: "Women have never been up to any good. My candid opinion of the species, obtained from history, is that they have created little and destroyed much.")

The flier also backtracked on another assertion in which she described women engineers as unworthy of the title because "I don't know one who will put the plumbing right or mend a gramophone."

She said she didn't mean that either—or another statement in which she declared:

"I think there is a lot to be said for our grandmothers' technique of tears and fainting. A fair damsel in tears by the side of an automobile with the punctured tire will never fail to produce results."
